Releasing Children from School

When a parent or legal guardian telephones a request that a child be released from school, the school must verify the call before releasing the child. In order to verify the call, the school should return the call to the parent or the legal guardian by using the telephone number listed on the emergency referral card. Parents or legal guardian have the responsibility of notifying the school, in writing, of changes of legal guardianship.

Supervision of Ill Pupils in School

It is a school rule to make arrangements as soon as possible for children who become ill in school to be escorted home to be cared for by parents or a physician specified by the parents.
